A Guide to Finding Services for Children with Special Needs in Rhode Island

January 2025

RIPIN

PERSONAL SUPPORT BUILT ON PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

FAMILY VOICES[®]

Rhode Island's Family-to-Family
Health Information Center

This guide is meant to help Rhode Islanders find services for children and youth with special health care needs.

Finding the right services to meet your family's unique needs can be challenging. Fortunately, there are many organizations in Rhode Island that can offer support.

In this guide you will find brief descriptions of the resources that families use most often. The resources are listed from early childhood through young adulthood. Contact information and shortened hyperlinks are included to make it easier for you to reach your family's goals.

This guide provides just a sample of the services and resources available. If you do not find what you are looking for, please contact the RIPIN Call Center for more individualized support.

Family Voices updates the guide yearly but relies on partners to ensure that this information meets our community's needs. Please let us know if you have any feedback or need additional support.

EARLY CHILDHOOD SUPPORTS BIRTH TO AGE 5

PRENATAL AND EARLY CHILDHOOD HEALTH

The Rhode Island Department of Health (RIDOH)

This state agency ensures access to quality maternal and child health services that support healthy birth outcomes, positive child development, school readiness, and preparation for adulthood. The Department of Health encourages all parents to:

- Talk with a healthcare provider as early as possible.
- Get regular prenatal care.
- Sign up for family visiting to get free support

Learn more at: www.health.ri.gov

NEWBORN SCREENING

Babies often appear healthy at birth and serious problems can be prevented if disorders are discovered early. RI birthing hospitals screen every baby for 33 conditions, as well as hearing loss and critical heart issues.

EARLY INTERVENTION

Early Intervention supports families of infants and toddlers with a developmental disability or delay. This program mentors families so that children can develop to their fullest potential.

Rhode Island's Early Intervention Program

Children referred to the Early Intervention Program receive a comprehensive developmental evaluation to determine if they are eligible. There is no cost to families for these services.

Eligibility: Children must be under age 3 and have a delay in one or more areas. Children do not have to be eligible for RI Medicaid to receive services. Talk with an Intake Coordinator at your local EI center to learn more.

RI DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN SERVICES (DHS)

This state agency delivers critical support services to ensure that individuals and families in RI have access to the supports they need to achieve their goals.

The Rhode Island Medicaid Program

The RI Medicaid Program pays for medical and health related services for eligible Rhode Islanders. DHS oversees this coverage for low-income individuals, families, children, pregnant women, elders and persons with disabilities and special needs who otherwise might not be able to pay for or get access to affordable health care.

Eligibility depends on a variety of factors including income, age, health care needs and, for certain programs, your resources, or assets. You must be a RI resident and meet specific citizenship status requirements. Learn more about eligibility at:

www.eohhs.ri.gov/Consumer/FamilieswithChildren

MEDICAID INSURANCE PLANS MANAGED CARE ORGANIZATIONS

The Affordable Care Act allows RI to improve access to quality health care by offering free health care through insurance providers known as Managed Care Organizations.

Families who are eligible for Medicaid have a choice of managed care plans. All these plans offer the same essential benefits through large networks of providers. Each plan also offers a special Care Management Program to assist with care coordination to help arrange transportation or other services.

EARLY AND PERIODIC SCREENING, DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT BENEFITS (EPSDT)

This healthcare benefit ensures all children and adolescents get appropriate specialty services when needed. These services are provided during regular well-child visits with the doctor.

- Assess and identify problems early
- Check children's health at periodic, age-appropriate times
- Provide physical, mental, developmental, dental, hearing, vision, and other screening tests to find potential problems
- Perform diagnostic tests to follow up when a risk is found
- Health care services and treatments that maintain or improve physical and mental illnesses or conditions

When special health care needs are identified, additional services may be available.

www.eohhs.ri.gov/portals

EPSDT Schedule

MEDICAID BENEFITS FOR CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL HEALTH CARE NEEDS

CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL HEALTH CARE NEED (CSHCN)
Rhode Island's Medicaid offers CSHCN extra specialized services that might otherwise be unavailable.

These services become available when a child has been diagnosed with a chronic condition and are determined eligible for: Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Katie Beckett or Adoption Subsidy through the Department of Children, Youth, and Families (DCYF).

Find a comprehensive list of services at: www.eohhs.ri.gov

DURABLE MEDICAL EQUIPMENT (DME)

DME is equipment or devices used for medical or rehabilitative purposes in the home or community. DME is a benefit available for children if medically necessary. Prior authorization is required. Examples of DME are diapers, nutritional supplements, respiratory supplies, assistive technology, or mobility supports.

Families can access DME Services by working with their doctor and specialists to determine what equipment is needed and calling a durable medical equipment vendor who participates in their health plan. The vendor will evaluate the child's needs and help you get the necessary documentation to the health insurance provider for review and approval.

Katie Beckett

Katie Beckett provides Medicaid health coverage to children up to age 19 who are living at home and have complex health needs. This benefit is typically used when a child has coverage under a commercial health plan. Katie Beckett provides Medicaid to help to cover the costs of additional services not covered by the commercial insurance plan.

With Katie Beckett, only the child's income and resources, not the parents', are used to determine eligibility.

To be eligible for Katie Beckett, a child must:

- Require a level of care at home that is typically provided in a hospital or nursing facility
- Meet the Social Security Administration's definition of disability
- Live at home and meet the income and resource requirements
- Be a RI resident and U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen

Before applying, talk with a Katie Beckett Parent Consultant to confirm eligibility criteria and review the application process.

Call a Parent Consultant at: (401) 462-0633

www.eohhs.ri.gov/Consumer/FamilieswithChildren

Application for Assistance (DHS-2)

The DHS-2 application form allows families to apply for several assistance programs at the same time.

Families can contact their local Community Action Program (page 9) for help completing this form.

Find the application at: www.eohhs.ri.gov/Consumer

HEALTH CARE FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

SUPPORTS FOR FAMILIES

RIPIN

RIPIN is a non-profit organization staffed by people who have loved ones with special needs. RIPIN peers are trained to help others access health, education, and community supports.

ADVOCACY / PARTNERSHIP

Family Voices

RIPIN Family Voices promotes family centered healthcare for children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHCN). Family Voices builds partnerships between families and professionals. Together we bring the voice of families with CYSHCN to policy makers. Resources include peer support groups and workshops that support caregivers at every level. ripin.org/ripin-family-voices

INFORMATION AND SUPPORT

RIPIN Call Center (401) 270-0101

Any Rhode Islander can get free support. Call with question about health or education. The Call Center will work with you until your concern is resolved. We can help you:

- Resolve problems with health insurance
- Get answers to your Medicaid questions
- Access special education services
- Connect to HealthSource RI
- Find services for your child with special needs

Calls are answered Monday - Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Leave your name, phone number, a description of your issue, and best way to contact you. We strive to return all messages within two business days. You can also contact us by email at: callcenter@ripin.org

EARLY CHILDHOOD

Early Intervention (EI)

This program helps families coordinate care for children from birth to age three. Parent Consultants give families the information they need to begin their journey into the world of special needs. They support programs like:

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Parent Training and Information Center (PTIC)

The PTIC provides support to families on their special education journey and into adulthood. PTIC Peers share information to help families understand their rights under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). Peers coach families on how to use this information to making informed decisions about their child's education.

The Transition Team helps ease transition to adult services. Transition Peers help young adults with disabilities and their families explore options and prepare for the future.

Local Advisory Committees (LAC) RIPIN peers work to develop parent advocacy skills and increase participation on statewide advisory councils and other committees.

Military Family Support Peers assist active duty, retired military, veterans, National Guard, and Reserve personnel, who have a family member with a disability or special need.

HBTS Fact Sheet

Applied Behavior Analysis Fact Sheet

Personal Assistance Services and Supports (PASS)

This program provides support to help children with special needs learn daily life skills. To be eligible, a child must have a disabling or chronic condition (cognitive, physical, developmental, and/or psychiatric) that is moderate to severe.

PASS Fact Sheet

Respite Program for Children

The Respite Program allows parents or guardians caring for a child with disabilities to have time off. To be eligible for Respite, a child must need an institutional level of care.

Both PASS & Respite services can help improve a child's ability to accomplish activities of daily living, improve safety skills, and participate in social situations. Services are provided in the home or community setting by a direct support worker.

Families have a choice in how services are delivered. Parents/guardians find their own direct support worker with assistance from a certified PASS or Respite agency. Families are expected to help train and supervise their direct support worker.
